Keynote Presentation

Carlton Hall, MHS, President, CEO, Carlton Hall Consulting LLC

Carlton Hall is the President and CEO of Carlton Hall Consulting LLC, a multi-faceted, full-service consulting firm designed to provide customized solutions and enable measurable change for communities, organizations, families and individuals. Carlton spent twelve years with the Community Anti-Drug Coalitions of America (CADCA) serving in several leadership positions and including most recently, Acting Vice President, Training Operations, and Acting Director for CADCA's National Coalition Institute, responsible for the day to day operational oversight, design, and implementation of its premiere national training delivery system. Carlton also supported CADCA's International Programs in partnership with the US State Department's International Narcotics Law Enforcement division (INL), managing training programs in Kenya, South Africa, and Ghana. Carlton is one of the primary architects of CADCA's National Coalition Academy. The Academy, a year-long coalition development program, is designed to increase the effectiveness of communities in drug demand reduction producing population level outcomes.

With more than 25 years experience in the fields of government relations, social services and prevention science, Carlton first gained national prominence as a Communities That Care® Project Manager, for the Channing Bete Company. He was a Communities That Care® trainer/senior consultant with Channing Bete Company for four years. He received his Master's in Human Services from Lincoln University in Pennsylvania. He was appointed as the Project Director for the Communities That Care® process in Philadelphia as well as the Crime and Public Safety manager for the Philadelphia Empowerment Zone, a division of the Mayor's Office of Community Services. During that time he managed a small planning grant to over three million dollars for science-based prevention programming in the neighborhoods of Philadelphia.

Carlton also was responsible for the design and implementation of the award-winning "Operation Makeover", an effective community-wide intervention addressing blatant open-air drug trafficking and increasing levels of juvenile violence and substance abuse offences. Operation Makeover was recognized by Vice President Al Gore and featured in "Programs That Work" a publication by the Office of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). After years of volunteering with many youth organizations Carlton founded The STRONG Foundation in 1993, which created opportunities to reduce service duplication while increasing partnerships with existing youth organizations.

Carlton's responsibilities, unique set of skills and experience has made him one of the most highly sought after instructors and guides for community problem solving in every state and territory in the nation as well as internationally, with successful achievements in South Africa, Ghana, Bermuda, Kenya and others.

Keynote Presentation

Carlton Hall, President, CEO, Carlton Hall Consulting LLC

Carlton Hall works to create a better world by solving complex problems to improve the human condition. In this presentation participants will learn how intensive substance abuse prevention focused services can help their community. These services include national and community based training opportunities, direct technical assistance at the local, state, national and international levels.

Breakout Session 1

1.1 Suicide Prevention 101

This training is intended for anyone who wants to become more familiar with prevention tools and strategies specific to suicide. The presentation is an overview of risk factors, warning signs, suicide intervention strategies and guidelines, and protective factors that buffer suicide risk. Participants will learn some intervention techniques throughout the presentation and will also learn resources that can continue support any persons at risk.

Kristin Vernon, LSCSW, Director of Counseling Services, Headquarters Counseling Center

1.2 Strengths-Based Prevention

This workshop will provide information and examples to teachers and professionals in the education field on how to deliver evidenced-based programs in a variety of settings in order to produce positive outcomes. Participants will learn how the success of a program can be largely impacted just by the way it is presented to students. Many youth are given more attention when they fail or make a mistake, and are rarely recognized for accomplishments and growth. It is common for students to believe they are placed in a particular program because they are in trouble and this workshop teaches participants how to change the message of school-based prevention.

Margaux Guignon, CRPS, MRSS, Director of Prevention Services, First Call Alcohol/Drug Prevention and Recovery

1.3 Vape Prevention: End the Trend on Vaping

The use of vape, and more recently JUUL, has become a rapidly increasing trend among teens in the past five years. What is vape and JUUL and why is it so popular among teens? A social norms media campaign, End the Trend, was developed in 2017 to counter some of the misperceptions about vaping among middle- and early high-schoolers throughout Johnson County, Kansas. Data from six focus groups of youth throughout our community was utilized to create the campaign. End the Trend works to educate teens, pre-teens and parents about vape products and provoke conversations about the potential dangers and related consequences of using vape. The campaign kept the creative relevant, timely and generally lighthearted by using video, animated .gifs and memes that are easy to view and share. The campaign utilized primarily digital avenues for reaching our target audience such as social media (Snapchat, Instagram, Twitter, Facebook, and YouTube), Google, and a branded website (www.endthetrend.me). Additionally, support materials, such as posters and stickers, were created to be used within schools.

Jamie Katz, MPH, Prevention Coordinator, Johnson County Mental Health Center

1.4 Poverty and Addiction

The workshop contains theories of poverty causation, factors that may lead to poverty with the consequences. The target population is those in poverty and the communities in which they live. The primary treatment is to identify the factors that lead to poverty and provide opportunities for those in poverty to avoid drugs, strengthen their families and the communities in the Circles program. The Circles provides interventions to allow those in poverty to raise their income and lower their output of cash resources. The idea of the workshop is to engage those people in the remedy for addiction or provide target from which to work to stop generational poverty.

Breakout Session 2

2.1 Connecting Substance Use and Suicide Prevention

Research tells us that the connection between substance use and suicide is strong. To maximize prevention efforts we all need to understand the correlation. This presentation will give an introduction to the shared risk and protective factors for substance use and suicide. There will be an overview of potential strategies for addressing both.

2.2 Building Positive Futures for Youth

With youth substance use being a concern in every county, involving youth in your community effort is critical. Here is your chance to learn about this initiative and how every student, parent and community member has a part to play in this important work. Together, we can build a hedge of protection around our kids and promote this valuable resource our young people.

Desiree Martens, RN, Director of Prevention, Mirror; Rachel Miner, Youth Development Coordinator, Mirror

2.3 Tobacco 21 in Kansas: Measuring the Impact

In this session participants will learn about the Tobacco 21 policy in Kansas. In addition to addressing the policy and where it has been adopted in the state, participants will hear about a new study being conducted by Children's Mercy Hospital and the University of Kansas Medical Center to evaluate the impact of the policy on youth smoking prevalence. Presenters will share data on Kansas youth cigarette, electronic cigarette, and smokeless tobacco use, and perceived risk of harm from their use. They will also share new data on youth use of cigars, cigarillos or little cigars, and their knowledge and opinion of the legal age to purchase tobacco products. Data from youth in cities with the Tobacco 21 law will be compared to youth who do not live in cities with the Tobacco 21 law. Finally, presenters will discuss and share resources on how to implement advocacy approaches for local tobacco control.

2.4 Building a Strong Suicide Prevention Coalition

Suicide prevention: a community concern. It takes passionate people from a variety of sectors working together to prevent & reduce suicides. The Johnson County Suicide Prevention Coalition has been active for the past five years. The coalition started with a community discussion on the topic of suicide and has evolved into a thriving coalition with members working collaboratively to reduce suicides and bring awareness to the topic. Through partnerships, the coalition has been able to provide opportunities such as free gun locks, distributing educational materials throughout the community, yearly trainings aimed towards the school population and parent panels. In this session you will learn how to build a suicide prevention coalition, how to engage with likely & unlikely partners and how to plan and implement initiatives with little to no money.

Breakout Session 3

3.1 Lived Experience Panel Discussion (Part 1)

Lived Experience, those that have had lost someone to suicide or had their own experience with being at risk for suicide, has become an important part of prevention work. Allowing individual experience to have a voice at all Prevention tables and communities is a critical piece to creating a more balanced and comprehensive approach to both intervention and prevention. A panel of individuals with lived experience will talk with participants about their experiences, the protective factors they use to stay healthy, and their experiences and goals in prevention work. They will answer initial questions from the moderator and then take questions from the audience, as time allows.

Kristin Vernon, LCSW, Director of Counseling Services,
Headquarters Counseling Center

3.2 JUUL, Vape, E-Cigarettes: Unifying the Tobacco Prevention Approach (Part 1)

Do you know what a JUUL is? Do you need to know more about vaping? Are you curious about how to address tobacco prevention now that e-cigarettes are the most commonly used tobacco product among teens? This interactive session will provide participants the most up-to-date information, best practices to prevent tobacco initiation among youth, and tools to engage youth and community members in policy, systems and environmental change around tobacco. This presentation is intended for community coalition members, prevention professionals, service providers, school personnel, youth mentors and students.

Jordan Roberts, BS, Youth Tobacco Prevention Program Manager, Kansas Department of Health and Environment; Lisa Blume, Training and Outreach Coordinator, Kansas Department of Health and Environment

3.3 Utilizing Best Practices to Enhance Effective Prevention

In these times of dwindling resources, and many evidence-based programs coming at a cost, it is important for organizations to offer targeted and cost-effective programs. Professionals often have to think outside the box in regards to effective prevention strategies. This session will provide cost-effective best practices that have been shown to be effective, such as Family Day, Town Hall Meetings, Parent Forums, School Prevention Roundtable, Café Conversations, Stand Up to Stigma, Sticker Shock, Stress Less Fest, Workshops and Trainings, Take Back Day, and Youth Leadership Summit.

Katherine Melton, MPH, MCHES, Prevention Coordinator, Johnson County Mental Health Center; Jamie Katz, MPH, Prevention Coordinator, Johnson County Mental Health Center

3.4 Responsible Suicide Prevention Messaging

Social media is the fastest and easiest way to engage and connect with your audience. When crafting a message of suicide prevention, how can your group

4.3 Strengthening Families Through Collaboration

The Strengthening Families Program is a fourteen week evidence-based family skill building program. Since 2012, Johnson County has been able to facilitate multiple sessions in various cities to increase the opportunities and reduce barriers so families can participate. With monetary and non-monetary resources being scarce, Johnson County has taken an innovative approach to provide this program in the community. The Strengthening Families Program has been evaluated many times with very positive results in reducing substance abuse and delinquency risk factors by improving family relationships. Without effective and strategic partnerships, the Strengthening Families Program would not be possible during a time of minimal resources. In this session, participants will increase their knowledge on the benefits of the Strengthening Families Program, how to sustain the program and how to engage with various community partners to implement the program.

4.4 Addictions, Suicide and Gambling: Co-Occurring Disorders

This presentation will address the links between problem gambling, substance abuse and suicides. We will discuss the nature of addiction, its risks and characteristics and explain the interconnection between these behavioral problems and other
